

Okay, here's a concise and enthusiastic cover letter, tailored for an Engineer position at Braze, based on the (limited) information provided:

Dear Braze Hiring Team,

I'm writing with immense enthusiasm to express my interest in the Engineer position at Braze! I've been consistently impressed by Braze's commitment to its people and innovative approach to [Assuming Braze does Customer Engagement, Marketing Automation, etc. - insert relevant area here], and the description of your company culture truly resonates with me.

While the job description is unavailable, my skills and experience in [List 2-3 skills that are in your resume or are relevant to Braze - e.g., Node.js, React, Python, Django, cloud technologies, data engineering, etc.] align perfectly with the needs of a modern engineering team. I'm confident I can contribute to Braze's continued success.

I'm eager to learn more about this opportunity and discuss how my passion for building [mention the area of engineering] can benefit your team.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Mubashir